Hello Willow Class parents and children.

It's the start of a new week and for some a few more changes. Some year 1 will be back in school and learning in a class that looks a little different. Some of you will still be working at home.

Wherever you are I will still be helping you through teaching in school, online learning and communicating through emails. You are all equally important.

As we have been busy preparing the classroom we have been putting our finished workbooks to one side for now and as we did we looked back on all the super things we learnt in the Autumn and Spring terms. We all really enjoyed the topic on 'The Great Fire of London', our trip to the 'Museum of Norwich' and creating our own Toy Museum, which was amazing.

All the museums are shut at the moment but you can still access their services online. If you are interested, Norfolk Museum Service still has plenty to offer online:

If you would like to revisit lighting at the time of 'Great Fire of London' watch <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P5HmR6Qv1RM> you may even recognise the presenter!

Let me know if you have discovered anything about the past that you didn't know or has excited or interested you.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes Mrs Tebbutt
